This charming three-bedroom detached house has a warm, cosy, and welcoming feel, making it an ideal family home. Set back with a private driveway and garage, the property also benefits from an electric vehicle charging point and a brand new boiler, adding modern convenience and efficiency.

Inside, the separate living room is comfortable and inviting, perfect for relaxing evenings, and it flows naturally into a bright conservatory that extends the living space and provides a peaceful spot to enjoy the garden year-round.

A well-proportioned dining room offers an ideal setting for family meals or entertaining, while the thoughtfully laid-out kitchen features ample storage and workspace, creating a practical yet homely heart of the house.

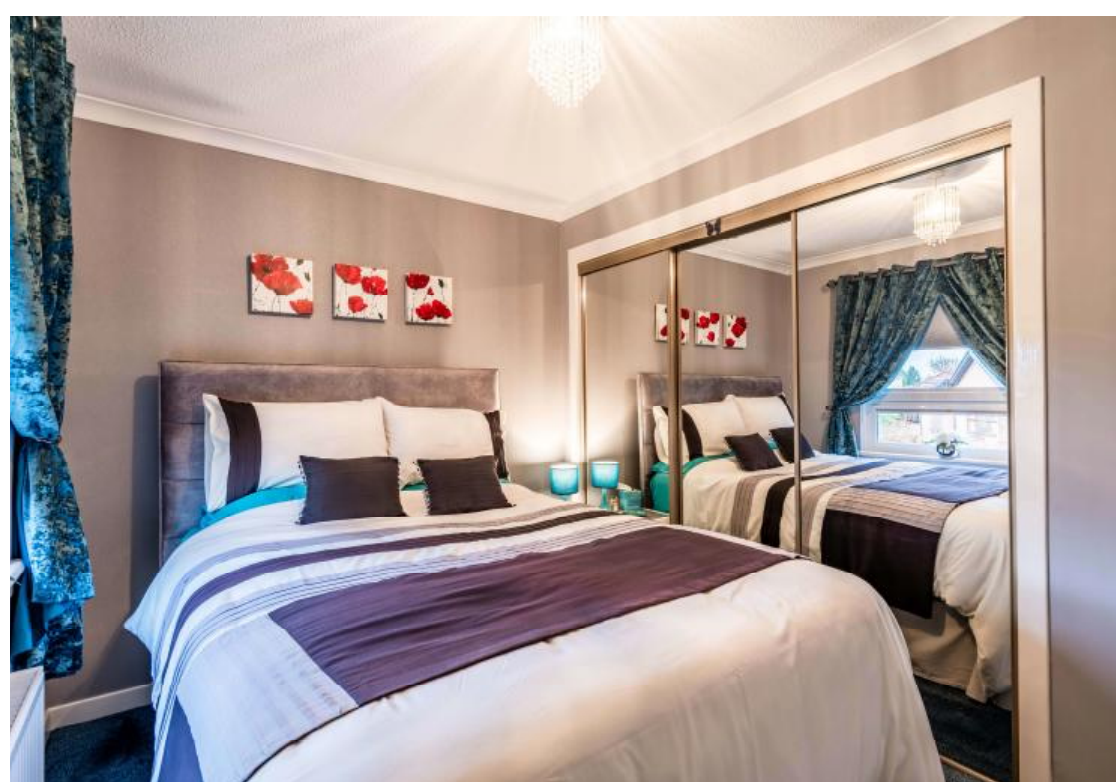

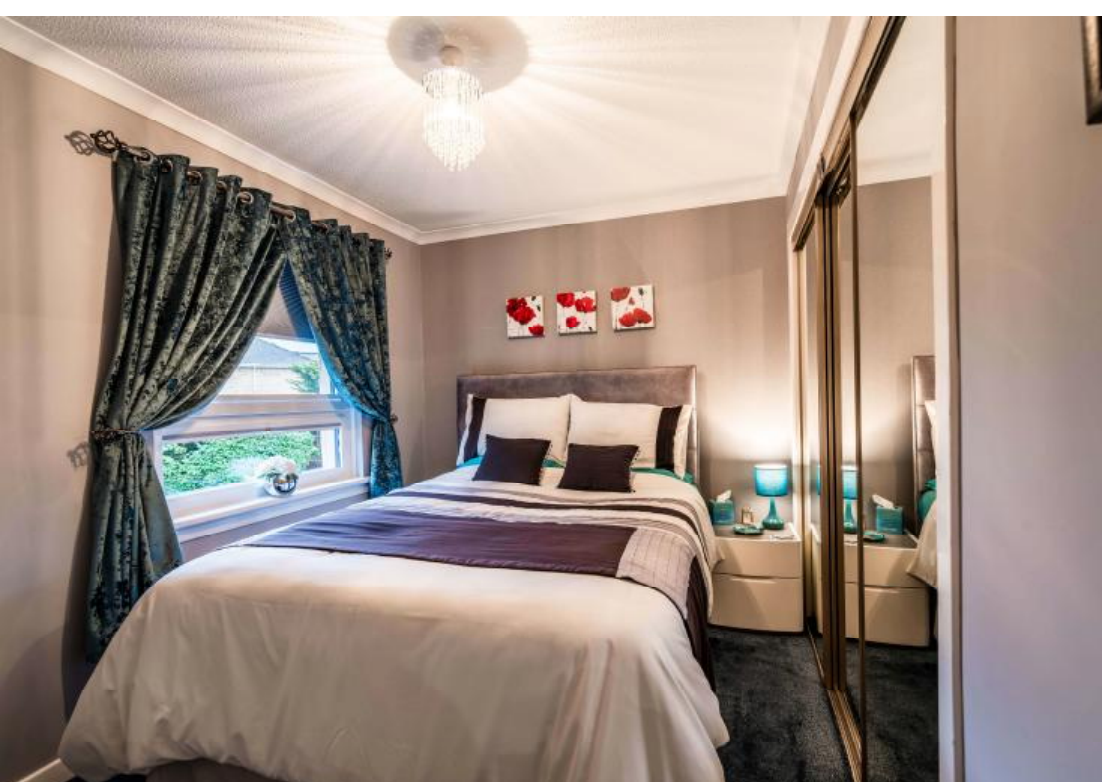

Upstairs, all three bedrooms are bright and comfortable and benefit from mirrored fitted wardrobes, offering excellent storage while enhancing the sense of space and light.

Ideally positioned right next to the waterfront of the Firth of Forth, the property enjoys a superb coastal setting, while the well-kept garden provides a pleasant outdoor space that further enhances the home's relaxed, lived-in atmosphere.

Dalgety Bay is a coastal town in Fife, Scotland, located on the north shore of the Firth of Forth, around eight miles northwest of Edinburgh. Developed mainly in the 1960s as a planned community, it has a modern, residential character and is popular with commuters due to its rail links and road access to Edinburgh and nearby towns. The town is known for its attractive shoreline, marina, and coastal walking paths with views across the Forth, as well as its parks, schools, and local shops. Overall, Dalgety Bay offers a quiet, family-friendly environment that combines seaside scenery with convenient access to larger urban centres.
